Morning meet guide at hotel, tour to Panda Breeding Research Centre and Sanxingdui Museum

Chengdu Panda Breeding and Research Centre has been constructed and imitated the pandas' natural habitat in the hope that they could have the best possible environment for rearing and breeding. There you can see pandas almost in their natural environment as they have plenty of space around them. They are incredibly cute to watch. They spend most of their day eating bamboo.

Sanxingdui Museum

The ruins of the capital of the ancient Shu, a Kingdom over 4,000 years ago, is 40km from Chengdu. The site covers an area of 120,000 square meters. In 1986, a great number of relics were brought to light, among which six pieces are evaluated as national treasures, representing the best of the art of bronze in China. The discovery of Sanxingdui predates 2,000 years of Sichuan's history and proves that the upper reaches of the Yangtze and the Yellow River region are the cradle of the Chinese civilization. The Sanxingdui is recognized as one of the world's most important ancient remains because of its vast size, age and cultural contents.
